Telkom 3S Satellite Successfully Launched

Jakarta, February 15, 2017 – PT Telkom Indonesia (Persero) Tbk. ("Telkom" or the "Company") announces that Telkom 3S Satellite has been successfully launched today at 4:39AM JKT time or February 14 at 18:39 local time from Guiana Space Center, Kourou, French Guiana. Telkom 3S will take orbital position of 118 degrees East Longitude. Telkom 3S was manufactured by Thales Alenia Space (TAS) of France, and launched by Arianespace.

The satellite investment totaled to US$215 millions with expected lifespan of 15 years. It carries 42 transponders consist of 24 C-Band, 8 extended C-Band and 10 KU-Band transponders. The latest KU-Band technology was not available yet in both previous satellite Telkom 1 and Telkom 2. Telkom 3S covers all parts of Indonesia, South East Asia, and some parts of East Asia, and is designed to provide high-definition television services, faster mobile communication, and better internet broadband services. The satellite complements the Company's 87,000 km nationwide fiber based cable backbone.

"Telkom hopes that Telkom 3S satellite will help the company increase its capacity to serve customers better, primarily in Indonesia's remote areas. The launch of Telkom 3S is a milestone, revealing our commitment to build digital society in Indonesia and to contribute the development of the country's economy in general", Alex J Sinaga, CEO of Telkom said.

The need for satellite is absolute in Indonesia, given its archipelagic terrain profile, and is currently in supply shortage. Hence, the launch of this new satellite can reduce the Company's dependence on the overseas satellite provider. Telkom is also in progress to launch Telkom 4 satellite next year in an effort to anticipate the growing demand for connectivity in Indonesia.

Sincerely yours,
